

JEC JOB OPPORTUNITIES:
UPDATED APRIL 30, 2007

Economists: Trade, Energy and Labor

Joint Economic Committee

Democratic Staff

Job Description:

The Democratic Staff of the Joint Economic Committee of the U.S. Congress has several openings for economists with expertise in analyzing either U.S. international trade, labor or energy policy. A successful candidate will have a serious interest in public policy and strong communication skills. The positions require independent research as well as working closely with other economists on the staff, Members of Congress, and policymakers throughout the country. Full-time, professional mid-level and senior staff positions are being offered, but single-year appointments will also be considered. A Ph.D. in economics or a related field, or commensurate work experience, is preferred. Capitol Hill experience is also a plus.

The Joint Economic Committee's mission is to review economic conditions and make recommendations to Congress about a broad range of policy issues. The Committee holds hearings, conducts original research and analysis, and advises Members of Congress on economic policy. For more information on the work of the Democratic staff of the Committee, please visit our website at <http://jec.senate.gov/democrats>.

If interested, please submit a resume and references to: JOBS@jec.senate.gov.